TRAVEL

To enter Portugal, you may need a Passport and/or a Visa, depending on the country you live in. It is not possible to apply for a visa at the border. Attendees who need to apply for a visa must do so in their country of residence. Citizens from the European Community don't need a Visa for entering Portugal.

Portugal is part of the Schengen Area. The following website shows which passport holders need to apply for a Schengen visa.

If the nationality of the passport holder is not listed, a Schengen visa is not required to enter Portugal.

ABOUT PORTUGAL

Portugal is the most western country of continental Europe, and is a member of the European Union. Nice weather, good food, wonderful sand beaches and hospitality of the people will welcome you to Portugal.

Train

It is just as easy to reach the centre of the city. National and international trains arrive every day at Santa Apolónia station, which is very close to all the traditional neighbourhoods and Terreiro do Paço. But if you would like to add a unique architectural experience to your arrival, get off at Gare do Oriente, whose Calatrava-designed lines impress even those who see it every day.

Sea

Those arriving by sea have one of the best views of Lisbon – from the river – and can moor in 3 different places, all near the centre. If you come by cruise ship, you can dock at Alcântara, Rocha Conde de Óbidos or Santa Apolónia. If you arrive by yacht, there are several marinas as you sail up the river.

Car

The best ways to enter Lisbon are via the A1 and A2, which both have national and international connections along their course. The landscape is beautiful and mobility around the region compensates the long hours of driving. After all, there is more to Lisbon than just city.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTS

Lisbon city has a variety of public transports which includes the subway (Metro), buses and trams (Carris), railway (CP and Fertagus) and boat (SOFLUSA). The ticket costs 1,40 euros if you buy it in advance in one of the many ticket machines on the metro stations. You can also buy a 24, 48 or 72 hours ticket called the Lisboa Card.
